3. Where We Store Your Personal Data

The data that we collect from you may be transferred to and/or stored outside your territory. It may also be processed by staff operating outside your territory who work for us or for one of our suppliers. If your personal data is transferred to, stored at or otherwise processed outside your country or territory, and that country or territory has not been recognised as providing an adequate level of data protection, we will put in place additional safeguards to protect your personal data, as required by applicable law. (for example, if you are in the EEA, standard contractual clauses would be used if we transfer or store your data outside the EEA).

4. Third Parties (Clients and Suppliers) and Data Transfer Across Borders:

We may share your personal data (including: name, age, email address, audio/video files, treatment and diagnosis) with companies within our group (Cerner Corporation) or vendors to fulfil data processing requirements, e.g. data matching, third party service providers, online ad effectiveness measurement, social media data interactions, scientific publication, pharmacovigilance/safety follow up, incentive payments etc. Where this processing occurs outside your region, we will put in place additional safeguards to protect your personal data as required by applicable law. (for example, if you are in the EEA, standard contractual clauses would be used if we transfer your data outside the EEA).

5. Confidentiality, Security and Industry Requirements:

We take appropriate technological and organisational measures to protect the personal information submitted to us, both during transmission and once we receive it. Our security procedures are consistent with generally accepted commercial standards used to protect personal information.

6. Cookie Disclosures

Cookies are small text files stored on your computer by a website that assigns a numerical user ID and stores certain information about your online browsing. They are used by web developers to help users navigate their websites efficiently and perform certain functions. The website sends information to the browser which then creates a text file. Every time the user goes back to the same website, the browser retrieves and sends this file to the website's server.

For behavioural tracking research, we use optional cookies / software applications, but only if you have given your explicit consent to such cookies / applications.

As is true of most online studies, we gather certain information automatically and store it in study data files. This information may include things like Internet Protocol addresses (IP address), browser type, Internet service provider (ISP); referring/exit pages, operating system and date/time stamp.

We use this automatically collected information to analyse trends such as browser usage and to administer the site, e.g. to optimise the study experience depending on your browser type. We may also use your IP address to check whether there have been multiple participations in the study from this IP address.

For further information, see our detailed Cookie Policy below.
<https://www.kantar.com/cookies-policies>

7. Accuracy

We take all reasonable steps to keep personal information in our possession or control, which is used on an on-going basis, accurate, complete, current and relevant, based on the most recent information made available to us by you and/or by our client.

We rely on you to help us keep your personal information accurate, complete and current by answering our questions honestly and you are responsible for ensuring that the data controller (which may be us or - more often - our client) is notified of any changes to your personal data.

8. Children's Data Collection:

Kantar, Health Division recognizes the need to provide further privacy protections with respect to personal data collected from children. We never knowingly invite children under the legal age set by the authorities in the country in which you reside to participate in research studies without parental permission. If it is necessary and appropriate to a particular project to directly involve children under the legal age, we take measures to ensure we have been given permission by their parent or legal guardian.

Kantar, Health Division will provide parents and guardians information about the survey topic, about any personal or sensitive information which may be collected from the children, the way this data will be used and whether and with whom Kantar, Health Division may share such information.

While the child is completing the survey, it is the responsibility of the parent or guardian to supervise them. We do not sell children's personal data we have collected.

In certain circumstances, we may require additional consent for public health, regulatory, or commercial reasons. We will explain this to you and the reasons for requiring it at the time we ask for it.

9. Sensitive Data

Kantar, Health Division may collect personal data that is classified as "special categories" of personal data. This includes racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs, or trade union membership, genetic data, biometric data for the purpose of uniquely identifying a natural person, data concerning health or data concerning a natural person's sex life or sexual orientation. You can choose whether or not to provide this data to us.

10. Rights of Individuals:

To request access to personal data that we hold about you, you should submit your request in writing to the e-mail address or postal address shown below in “How to Contact Us”.

To request access or deletion of personal data that we hold about you, you should submit your request in writing to the e-mail address or postal address shown below in “How to Contact Us”. When you make a request you should indicate the division of Kantar in which you are making the request – in this instance Kantar Health - and, any other relevant identifiers such as your Panel ID). If you contact us using an email address or contact details for which we do not hold a record of, we may request a copy of a valid government issued or official identification (such as drivers licence or passport).

You have the following rights in relation to your personal data:

- Right to change your mind and to withdraw your consent
- Right to access your personal data
- Right to rectify your personal data
- Right to erase your personal data from our systems, unless we have legitimate interest reasons for continuing to process the information
- Right to port your personal data (portability right)
- Right to restrict processing of your personal data
- Right to object to the processing of your personal data
- Right to opt out of the sale of your personal data if we sell your data.
- Right to not be discriminated against for exercising any of the rights available to you under applicable data protection laws.
- If you wish to exercise any of these rights (for example you no longer wish to receive marketing from us), you can use the link or unsubscribe button provided in our email correspondence, or see our contact details below in the “How to contact us” section.

If necessary, we will also notify third parties to whom we have transferred your personal data of any changes that we make on your request. Note that while Kantar Health communicates to these third parties, Kantar, Health Division is not responsible for the actions taken by these third parties to answer your request. You may be able to access your personal data held by these third parties and correct, amend or delete it where it is inaccurate.

11. Data Storage and Retention

Personal information will be retained only for such period as is appropriate for its intended and lawful use, in this case we shall retain data for no longer than 12 months, unless otherwise required to do so by law, or contractually agreed by our clients. Personal information that is no longer required will be disposed of in ways that ensure their confidential nature is not compromised.

As part of the Company Business Continuity plan and as required by ISO 27001, ISO 9001, ISO 20252 and in certain instances the law, our electronic systems are backed up and archived. These archives are retained for a defined period of time in a strictly controlled environment. Once expired, the data is deleted and the physical media destroyed to ensure the data is erased completely.

12. Updates to our Privacy Policy:

We keep our privacy policy under regular review and it may be amended from time to time and at least every 12 months. We will always have the most up-to-date policy on this web page. We will record when the policy was last revised.

Last updated: 1 April 2021

13. How to Contact Us:

Questions regarding this Privacy Policy and access requests should be directed to privacyoffice@cerner.com or contact us here.

14. Complaints & Country Specific Disclosures:

If you consider that our processing of your personal data infringes data protection laws, you have a legal right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority responsible for data protection. You may do so in the EU member state or jurisdiction of your habitual residence, your place of work or the place of the alleged infringement. To find the contact details of your country supervisory authority, please consult our dedicated page:
